MODEL PARENTAL AND OTHER EXTENDED PERSONAL LEAVE BEST PRACTICE GUIDELINE

The initial version of this Model Parental and Other Extended Personal Leave Best Practice Guideline was approved by Bar Council on 19 June 2014 for adoption by individual chambers/floors of the private Bar. Like that initial version, this updated best practice guideline:

- (a) Provides a framework in which parental and other extended personal leave (including in connection with illness or injury or in the case of First Nations people, cultural rites and practices associated with the death of a member of that person's family or kinship group) can be facilitated and to assist in minimising any associated liability;
- (b) Aids the promotion of compliance with Rule 123 of the Legal Profession Uniform Conduct (Barristers') Rules (the Barristers' Conduct Rules);
- (c) Operates in conjunction with and in furtherance of any other policies adopted by the New South Wales Bar Association; and
- (d) Promotes the dignity and respect of every person in relation to all protected attributes.

The Bar Association encourages each set of chambers/floors to seek independent legal advice with respect to the application of the model best practice guideline to its chambers, members and staff. Nothing in this model best practice guideline should be taken as legal advice with respect to the obligations imposed on chambers, members and staff under Commonwealth or New South Wales law.
